NEW JERSEY had passed through several phases of ownership and of boundaries before the date at which our interest in the counties of Burlington and Hunterdon begins. The days of the Colony were not untroubled.

On the 26th of May 1668 the first Legislative Assembly met. Lords, Proprietors, Englishmen, held the lands, some acquired under the Crown and some through purchase from the Indians. By a Deed made July 1, 1676 a "line of division" was made, and the names East Jersey and West Jersey given, the two portions were then included under a Royal Government.

Commissioners were authorized to take up lands, and authority was given them to set forward trade as well as civil and religious liberty. Regular Courts were appointed under the name of County Courts, administering the affairs of each separate county. County lines have been much changed since then.

Upon the accession of Queen Anne to the English throne, March 1701/2 the surrender from the Proprietors of East and West Jersey took place. They yielded their right of government and the two Provinces were then united under the name of Nova Caesarea, or New Jersey.

Lord Cornbury was appointed Governor, and a General Assembly of twenty-four Representatives were chosen. Each of whom was required to own at least one thousand acres of land, and the power to vote for these officers was limited to those who owned one hundred acres. We can see in this law the incentive to purchase land, and how our ancestors were ambitious to take part in the management of the Colony.

Colonists had been coming from England for a quarter of a century. The ship Kent reached New Castle, on the Delaware in 1677. This brought the first settlers. As this ship was leaving London it is said "King Charles II pleasuring in his barge, came alongside, and gave them his blessing." The Ship Shield, from Hull, England was the first vessel to come up to Burlington and make its own landing. This was 1678. In 1682 a vessel bound for Burlington had reached and passed Philadelphia when it ran aground. After eight days of waiting for a tide to float them the 350 passengers landed in small boats on the Jersey shore, and so proceeded to Burlington under difficulties of hunger and exposure.

Burlington was laid out as a town at an early date, named first New Beverly, then Birdlington, and finally Burlington. The County of Hunterdon was divided from that of Burlington by act of Assembly in 1713, and named for the Governor under English authority, Governor Hunter. The boundaries of Hunterdon were changed in 1738 when new counties were again formed. One reason being the inconvenience of reaching Burlington for legal matters, from the upper parts of Hunterdon, and Trenton was made available for such, when appointed the Capital of the state.

The Indians had been good friends and neighbors in the earlier days, but in 1685 the Assembly passed an Act naming a penalty of five pounds "to either give or sell liquor to them, as well as to negroes." For slavery had been encouraged. The Representatives were made responsible "for the obtaining of negroes at proper rates".

Spelling was heroic and home-made in those days, because school-teachers were not to be had. In 1709 the Rev. John Talbot, the English Clergyman in charge of the Burlington Parish wrote to the Society in London, "I hope you will put the Society in mind that we have often desired a school master, for there is none in Town nor in all the Province that is good."

First Generation

CHARLES WOOLVERTON (1)

IT was to this Colony, with the early limitations and advantages of first settlement that Charles Woolverton's name is found in the year 1693 as a land-owner. No effort has been made to trace the family of Woolverton in England, or to follow up the legends regarding the first appearance of the family name in the colonies.

Search has not been made to ascertain the religious affiliation of the Woolverton family. That Charles, the ancestor whose life we are tracing was a devout, godly man, and taught his children to walk in the paths of rightfulness is seen in the inscription in his Bible, and the admonition to his son which he wrote therein.

The Colonists were largely Friends. It is said of one ship's company "of the people called Quakers there were fifteen, Episcopalians two, Baptists one, Presbyterians one." The Friends Meeting House and the Episcopal Church in Burlington are both of the early days establishment.

Charles Woolverton, named in these pages as Charles (1) is the ancestor and head of all the families whose descent is traced in these pages. He wrote his name thus in his own Bible as well as in signing all legal papers. These papers were numerous owing to many purchases and sales and gifts of lands made by him, both in Burlington and in Hunterdon Counties, New Jersey.

The first of such records of Charles Woolverton (1) and the earliest date at which his name appears on the colonial records is found in Liber B. Part I. page 361, dated August 20, 1693, when he purchased one-hundred acres of William Biddle "within the Province of West Jersey." This land was to be surveyed, and a Return of Survey is recorded in Revel's Book of Survey, Liber A. Page 119, under date of December 1693. In this deed he is named Charles Woolverton of the County of Burlington, Province of West Jersey, Husbandman.

Between this date and 1735 records of about sixteen transfers and sales of land in both Burlington and Hunterdon Counties are to be found.

The name of the wife of Charles Woolverton, Mary Chadwick, appears in deeds, and three of these make it explicit, particularly one under date of 1702, in which Charles is Grantee for fifty acres of land near Mount Carmel, in Burlington Co., from John Dixon and Elizabeth his wife, (late the wife of John Chadwick'). This land was part of a tract purchased by John Chadwick March 18, 1689. On the 8th of March 1696 John Dixon and Elizabeth sold the dwelling and plantation owned by John Chadwick in his life time. The deed thus records the death of John Chadwick and the re-marriage of his widow. Also in 1702 John Dixon and Elizabeth his wife "in consideration of the natural love and affection which they have and beare unto their son-in-law Charles Woolverton, who married the daughter of the said Elizabeth" sold fifty acres to Charles. This Deed or Gift or grant, as it is called, is dated March 28, 1702. Charles Woolverton later sold this land back to John Dixon, and the Deed bears the signature of both Charles Woolverton and Mary Woolverton, dated July 20, 1704.

The largest tract of land purchased by Charles Woolverton, and important because it led to the removal of the family from Burlington County was made by deed bearing date of March 2, 1714. He bought of William Biddle of Burlington County for three-hundred and fifty pounds "all that tract of land lying within ye Indian Purchase . . called ye Lottong Purchase in ye township of Amwell, ye County of Hunterdon . . twice crossing a brook called Wichochoake . . laid out for 1665 acres." Following this the records point almost entirely to transactions in Hunterdon County.

In the Record Book of Court Minutes of Hunterdon County, the Court of General Quarter Sessions, under date of June 6th, 1721, Charles Woolverton is written as present on the Bench. This office included also that of Judge of the Supreme Court of the state.

It will be seen how Charles Woolverton gave of his lands to his sons, "for love and natural affection" as many of the deeds are worded. These records must be taken for his Will, as none has been found. It was not required in New Jersey at that date that the wife's name was necessary on transfers of land, so we fail that clue to the fact if Mary his wife survived him.

The date of the death of Charles Woolverton has not been found. The last deed given is dated 1735, and a decade later the eldest son names himself "son and heir of the said Charles Woolverton". Thus we can only approximate the date.

The Bible, which contains much of Charles Woolverton's writing and his signature, also the births of all his children, is in the possession of a descendant who lived in Hunterdon Co., for many years, but lately removed to the South. Now found in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Charles Woolverton purchased it of Hugh Huddy, of Burlington, he notes that he paid thirty shilling for it. It was printed at Geneva, Switzerland, April 10, 1560, by Roland Hill, at a time when England had passed through persecution, of which the printer seems to have had bitter experience.

The following is copied from the entries in the Bible:

"This I give to my eldest son
That he may learn the just man's steps
When I am dead and gone.
For in my life much love I had
To read this Holy Book,
And therefore leave it to my son
That he in it may look."

The Bible contains no other family records in the writing of Charles Woolverton excepting the birth of a grand-daughter, Dinah Woolverton, born October 22, 1738.

In another hand-writing is the family record of the births of the children of Dinah Woolverton, who had married Francis Tomlinson.

Second Generation

CHARLES WOOLVERTON (2) the eldest of the second generation was born at or near Burlington January 17, 1698. The family removed to Amwell, Hunterdon County soon after the purchase of the tract of 1665 acres of William Biddle by Charles, his Father, in 1714.

The Homestead was to the north of the town of Rosemont, the lands lying on both sides of the highway. Legal papers are the only source of knowledge, as well as the surest. The Father Charles gave to the son Charles under date of March 1, 1731 "All that tract of land . in the township of Amwell" comprising 288 acres. The deed specifies as from "Charles Woolverton ye elder for and in consideration of the natural love and affection which he hath toward his said son Charles Woolverton ye younger". The deed was duly witnessed, signed and acknowledged before John Reading, "one of his Majesties Commissioners for the Province" on September 29, 1735.

A deed made in 1746, recorded in Trenton, Book H, page 79 also sets forth the sonship.

In Book of Wills, Trenton, Liber 12, page 250 is recorded the Will of Charles Woolverton (2). From this document is found the name of the wife Margaret. But nothing reveals her family name. The two sons, Morris and John are to be co-executors of the Will.

This was made under date of May 7, 1761, and "sworn" October 30, 1765, under William Franklin, Capt. Gen. and Governor in Chief of the Colony.

Children of Charles Woolverton (2) and Margaret—

ROGER WOOLVERTON (3)

Roger Woolverton was born December 1, 1700, presumably near Mount Carmell, Burlington County, N. J., the second son of Charles (1) and Mary Chadwick. His life seems to have been spent at Hopewell, N. J.

In 1722 he was taxed as a "single man", and was a tailor by profession. The Town Records of Hopewell list him as "Overseer of Roger's Road" in March 1735/6. The same year he sold to his Brother, Dennis Woolverton a small tract of land lying near to Dennis' other land.

This deed proves both his parentage, referring to his Father, Charles, and also that he had married Mary—, although we have no clue to her family name, for she wittnessed the Deed, as Mary Woolverton.

In the N. J. Calendar of Wills his name appears in the settlement of several estates, particularly in 1741 and 1746 when he made the Inventory for the properties mentioned.

Roger Woolverton's Will is recorded in Trenton, N. J. It cites his wife Mary, sons Isaac, Charles and Roger; daughters Rosannah, Mary, Sarah, Dinah and Rosemond. All the children are under age. He names three brothers as Executors, Charles, Isaac and Dennis Woolverton.

The Will was "Sworn" at Trenton April 21, 1748. (Signed) ROGER WOOLVERTON.

Recorded in Liber 5 of Wills. Folio 444.

MARY WOOLVERTON (4)

Mary Woolverton was born April 11, 1702, the third child and eldest daughter of Charles and Mary Chadwick Woolverton.

No data has been found concerning her life or death.

DANIEL WOOLVERTON (5)

Daniel was born March 6, 1704, the third son of Charles Woolverton. In New Jersey Calendar of Wills is noted that Daniel Woolverton and Ruth Woolverton, on November 24, 1732, witness the Will of John Wright of Amwell.

Neither deed or will belonging to Daniel has been found in this search.

ISAAC WOOLVERTON (6)

Isaac Woolverton, born April 24, 1706. He lived on part of the large tract purchased by his Father in 1714, in Hunterdon Co., N. J. The deed of such transfer to him has not been found, as is the case in the records of his Brothers, but the boundaries given in their deeds mentions such possession.

Isaac witnessed the deeds for land given by his Father to his Brothers Charles and Dennis. In the Will of his brother Charles, made in 1761, their lands adjoin. The last legal paper referring to the land bears date October 14, 1770.

An old family bible, which in 1900 was owned by Sidney Woolverton of Bailey, Missouri, records the wife of (an) Isaac Woolverton as named Abigail, but no family name is given. The following record is taken from this bible. It may be the record of a grandson, as the dates suggest.

CHILD OF ISAAC WOOLVERTON AND ABIGAIL—

21. i. STEPHEN, born August 9, 1751; died January 1, 1826; married Mercy Cox, born April 22, 1750, died September 12, 1830, daughter of Joseph Cox of Philada., Pa.

DENNIS WOOLVERTON (7)

Dennis, the fifth son of Charles Woolverton, was born in Burlington County, January 26, 1709.

He received from his Father a farm of 163 acres in Amwell, Hunterdon County, described as on "the king's Highway", and adjoining the land of his brothers Isaac and Joel. "The natural love and affection" of his Father was expressed in the deed.

His name occurs in the settlement of the estates of Emanuel Coryell in 1757, and in that of Abigail Mildrom in 1763.

His marriage to Elizabeth Pettit is known through county records. Their eldest son, died it is said, by drowning in the Delaware River. Letters of Administration were granted to Dennis, dated December 2, 1763, for this son, Charles.

His Will dated March 20, 1772, was written "when he was in perfect health" as stated, and was probated September 5, 1774 at Amwell.

He willed to Elizabeth, his wife one hundred pounds in lieu of her dower. To Nathaniel, the only son of my eldest son Charles, deceased, he gives as birthright of his Father, one hundred acres.

The son Jonathan and daughter Mary were each devised lands, and two grand-daughters, named Tomlinson, were to receive stated sums of money.

Dennis Woolverton died August 19, 1774; Elizabeth his wife, January 2, 1783 in her 72nd. year. They are both buried at Rosemont, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

DINAH WOOLVERTON (8)

Dinah Woolverton was born March 26, 1711. The second daughter of Charles (1). Her christian name was carried down in the family for several generations, but her married name has not been found, if she did marry,—thus no further data is available.

JOEL WOOLVERTON (9)

Joel, born May 31, 1715, was given a farm, by his Father as always—'for natural love and affection'. The deed is dated June 13, 1737, and conveys 186¼ acres to his son, from Charles (1).

While the name of Joel is of frequent mention in the Deeds giving lands to others, designating boundaries, few legal records referring to his own affairs are found.

His Will, dated June 29, 1790 denotes a long life, and also a large family. His wife's name Elizabeth, is given, and the names of six sons and three daughters. With one exception they are written as of Amwell Township, John is living in Alexandria Township, and all are called "yoemen".

THOMAS WOOLVERTON (10)

Thomas (10), born May 17, 1717, the seventh son and youngest child in the Bible record of Charles (1), was probably born in Hunterdon County, married Mary.—

Second Generation

Very few legal records under the name of Thomas Woolverton have been found. A Will made by Samuel Allen in 1732 mentions a Thomas Woolverton by name, as also the settlement of an estate in 1757.

His own estate is recorded at Trenton, N. J. and on July 2, 1759 Letters of Administration were granted to Mary Woolverton . . of all credits of Thomas Woolverton Esq. Deceased, late of Newton, Sussex County, N. J. to which is added "Accounts of Thomas Woolverton settled by Mary Woolverton, Ephriam Darby and Nathaniel Pettit.

With these few records of Thomas the end of the second generation of Woolvertons in New Jersey is closed.

Third Generation

MORRIS WOOLVERTON (11)

MORRIS WOOLVERTON, the eldest son of Charles (2), was born and his life was spent on the farm given by Charles (1) to his Father.

We have no date of either his birth or death. We only approximate the former as about 1730, and his death, reading between the lines of his Will must have been in October 1770, in middle life.

He married Margery, (or as it appears in his Will Mary) Baker. She was the daughter of Samuel Baker of Amwell. The family were remarkable for longevity, although we have no record of her death, a Sister lived to pass the century mark.

Very little is known of the activities of his life. In the County Records of Roads, Vol. I. of Hunterdon Co., under date of October 31, 1761 "A grievance" is referred to him. And the following month Morris Woolverton was one of the Commissioners for laying out the Roads of Amwell. He wrote his name "Morris" but after his death it is found in records "Maurice".

His Will probated a month after the date of making, is dated October 14, 1770. The family of five children were all under age, so that Morris leaves as Executors his Brother John Woolverton (12) and his friend Richard Green.

The disposition of his belongings shows the custom of the times.

To Mary his "Well Beloved Wife", in lieu of her Dower, in addition to one seventh of the money realized from the sale of the belongings in land and other possessions, he wills that she shall have "one feather-bed and furniture, two cows, one horse, which she shall choose, a side-saddle and bridle, a Bilsted upboard, and two iron Pots". "The care, management and disposal of my children in their Nonage shall be reposed in her."

This will was taken to Trenton, and given "the Prerogative Seal at Burlington," on November 26, 1770. Trenton Records Liber 15, page 86.

His Brother John Woolverton (12) died within three years, so that an "Agreement", regarding the settlement of the estate was recorded. His Executors were given permission to sell the estate and divide the monies. They "adjudged the sale would be attended with great loss", and held it.

JOHN WOOLVERTON (12)

John was the younger of the two sons left by Charles (2), and the joint executor of his Father's Will.

Under that will his inheritance was of the southern part of his Father's land, very easily distinguished by the Indian name of the stream—the Wickecheoche. It contained a grist and a saw mill, and certain lands on the Delaware River, in all over seventy acres, which he denotes as 'my plantation'. He was a Miller by trade.

No date of birth has been found. His marriage was recorded in Trenton, to Elizabeth Wilson, on November 8, 1768.

His Will made on July 6, 1773, only five years later, indicates his short life, as it was proven one month later.

His sons are left equal shares of the estate, although the birthright of Charles (40) is mentioned, thus proving him the elder.

His Executors, 'beloved friends' John Lambert, and Samuel Wilson with his 'beloved wife' Elizabeth do not sell the property, as given permission in the will, And twenty-one years later the sons give deed to John Prall Jr. for the entire property.

Children of John Woolverton (12) and Elizabeth Wilson

Fourth Generation

JOHN WOOLVERTON (35)

JOHN WOOLVERTON the only son of Morris Woolverton and Mary Baker was not fifteen years old at the time of his Father's death, in 1770. According to his Father's Will the homestead farm was to have been sold, evidently it was not, as the family continued to reside there, and the following paper was made and duly signed under date of December 13, 1787, "Between Margaret Wilson, wife of Silas Wilson of Phila., and Abigail Woolverton and Sophia Woolverton, Spinsters now or late of Amwell Township, State of New Jersey of the one part and John Woolverton, farmer of the Township and State aforesaid. Whereas Maurice (Morris) Woolverton . . . deceased, did by his last will and testament direct that a certain tract of land . . . should be sold . . . . The aforesaid Legatees adjudged it would be attended with great loss to do according to the Will, . . and did agree to accept of the said John Woolverton the several sums . . . and forever Quit Claim unto the said John Woolverton all right, Title and Interest whatsoever in the land and Plantation . Thus it became his home.

Just before John Woolverton attained his majority, in April, 1776, he enlisted at Ringoes, N. J., as a Private in Captain George Ely's Company, Second Regiment of Hunterdon County Militia. He also served fifteen other monthly tours, in Companies commanded by Captain George Ely, and also under other Officers. He was accidently wounded in the right arm on June 27th, 1778, and thus prevented from taking part in the Battle of Monmouth, N. J.

John Woolverton was commissioned Ensign of Captain George Ely's Company Second Regiment, Hunterdon Co. N. J. Militia. The Powder horn used by him in the Revolution is in the possession of his Great Grand-son Rev. William H. Woolverton, of Stockton, N. J.

Closely following his service as Soldier he appears in the character of Lover. He sought the hand of Rachel Quinby, the daughter of Isaiah Quinby and Rachel Warford. The latter was the daughter of John Warford of Hunterdon Co. The Quinby family was descended from William Quinby of West Chester Co., N. Y.

It is related that when John Woolverton asked Isaiah Quinby for his daughter he was refused on the ground that he was not able to support a wife. John answered "Never mind I will own more land than you before I die". He was a good farmer, a provident manager, and accumulated farms so that at his death each child was provided with one, and it is said he had twenty horses, thus making good his promise, at least. Although Isaiah Quinby was a Friend, his daughter Rachel was married to John Woolverton by the Rev. William Frazier, a Clergyman of the Church of England who had charge of St. Andrew's Parish, Amwell, then situated at Ringoes, (but since then the Parish has been removed to Lambertville, N. J.). The Marriage Record of the Ancient Parish gives their marriage under the date of January 3, 1779. (Copy with Hunterdon Co. Historical Society, Flemington, New Jersey.)

There are numerous records on file in the Hunterdon County office at Flemington, of both purchases and sales of land and farms made by John Woolverton.

The earliest date, May 7, 1799 relates to the purchase of 482 acres for 1627 pounds, for a tract the boundaries of which are given by reference to Eagle Island and Wichecheoche Creek. This is the date at which it is said that John Woolverton left the homestead on the hill and removed to the place where he spent the rest of his life, where both he and his wife died. This place is still in the family.

Among the family papers left by John Woolverton (35) was one bearing date December 13, 1787, referring to the settlement of his Father's estate, as touching the division of an unliquidated account between the estate of his Uncle John Woolverton (12) and the heirs.

John Woolverton's death occurred on December 10, 1837, in his eighty-third year. His wife survived him four years, until January 17, 1842. They are buried in the Rosemont Cemetery.

His Will is recorded in Trenton, N. J. dated September 25, 1830, probated January 6, 1838. In it he makes mention of each of his children, and "my old homestead farm, formerly the property of my Father." The latter, together with two additional farms bought at different times, he wills to the three daughters, Sarah Stockton, Margaret Reading, and Nancy Barcroft. The two sons, Samuel and James Woolverton are appointed Executors.

CHARLES WOOLVERTON (40) GEORGE WOOLVERTON (41)

These two sons, the only children of John and Elizabeth Woolverton were very young at their Father's death in 1773.

The property which they received at the date when both had attained their majority is herewith given. All else is lacking in the effort to place them.

In 1750 Charles Woolverton (2) purchased of the Howells seventy acres of land with mills thereon, bounded by lines on the Delaware River and lying south of the Wickecheoche Creek. In his will in 1761 all this was bequeathed to his younger son John, the Father of these boys. And in turn his Executors made deed to them, dated October 22, 1792—thus they inherited the land their Grandfather had purchased.

On May 1, 1794—two years later—Charles and his Brother George sold the whole property to John Prall Jr.

It is not difficult to find the boundaries of this inheritance. The Wickecheoche Creek has eroded a deep ravine through the brow of the table land, and here, where it empties into the Delaware River it is a picturesque stream.

There are Woolverton ancestral lands very near this section, but the village is named Prallsville, so called because of this sale, and the mills still supply the community with necessities.

No further history of the sons of John Woolverton has been found.

Flemington, Deed Book 2, page 35. Date May 1, 1794.

THE FAMILY BIBLE OF CHARLES WOOLVERTON (1)

This Bible was purchased by Charles Woolverton in 1704, and inscribed by himself in these words. "Charles Woolverton, His Book, bought of Hugh Huddy of Burlington, (N. J.) and it cost thirty-shillings."

In 1900 it was owned by (Rev.) Francis Tomlinson, of Pittstown, N. J. The owner was of Woolverton descent, but through a line of marriages in the Tomlinson name, for several generations.

The Bible in 1900 was still well-preserved. The binding had been strengthened, and on the margin was written "Binding and Clasps cost seven shillings." Surely a record of good care for two centuries.

One leaf was missing, apparently it had been cut out. It contained parts of the XIII and XIV chapters of Genesis. The book was of the Edition known as the "Breeches Bible"—so called because Genesis III chapter and seventh verse reads "They sewed fig leaves together and made themselves breeches".

It was printed at Geneva, Switzerland, dated April 10, 1560.

The printer, Roland Hill was one of the Protestants forced to leave England because of the persecutions under Queen Mary. The Bible is dedicated to Queen Elizabeth, and calls upon her to avenge the wrongs done to Protestants during the reign of her predecessor.

The following is in the hand-writing of Charles-/ Woolverton (1) and must be accepted as his Will, as nothing in the way of such a recorded Will has been found.

This I give to my eldest son, Charles,
That he may learn the just man's steps
When I am dead and gone.
For in my life much love I had
To read this Holy Book,
And therefore leave it to my son
That he in it may look.

For 'tis the path the just man trod
This Holy Book leads to,
And he that truly fears the Lord
The mysteries out shall know.
God give thee grace my son,
This Book to look upon.

This Book I give to my eldest son,
God give him grace to use it,
That he may give his heart and mind
Rightly for to use it.

Whoever shall defraud him of it, will violate my Will,
And he that wrongs the Fatherless assuredly do ill.
This counsel in my life I wrote, mistakes to prevent
And leave it in this Holy Book a standing monument."

The record of the family follows, all in the plain, very good hand-writing of Charles Woolverton.

January 17, 1698 my son CHARLES was borne.
The first day of December in the year 1700 my son ROGER was born.
April 11, 1702 my daughter MARY was born.
March 6, 1704 my son DANIEL was born.
April 24, 1706 my son ISAAC was born.
January 26, 1709 my son DENNIS was born.
March 26, 1711 my daughter DINAH was born.
May 31, 1715 my son JOEL was born.
May 17, 1717 my son THOMAS was born.

Charles Woolverton and Mary Chadwick were the parents of this family, but we have no later mention of Mary's name than the Deed of July 20, 1704. This can only be explained by the fact that Deeds of sale did not require the signature of the wife at that time in New Jersey, or for many years later.

The Bible Contains the record of the family of Dinah Woolverton and Francis Tomlinson, but not in the hand-writing of Charles Woolverton.

Dinah Woolverton was born October 22, 1738, and Dinah's parentage is not given.

Note Regarding the Index

The surname by birth is placed first in the index. Where the name has been changed through marriage the latter follows in parenthesis.

To trace an ancestry, find the name in the index, turn to the page indicated, and the parents' names will be found on the line at the head of the family. Note the number standing between their names and turn back until that number appears on the margin. The grandparents' names will be found to stand on the head-line of that family.

The same plan will give the ancestors' names generation by generation.
